

THE LOGICAL CANDIDATE.

(Editorial.)

The press dispatches from Washington that we are soon to have a Special Session of Congress to be called by the President starts anew the political gossip in the Eighth Congressional District about a successor to the late Hon. Harvey Helm. It is understood that the power is lodged in the Governor to call this election and set the date. It is not definitely known when this will be done but is thought likely to be called in the near future in order to have a representative for the district in this Special Session.

This brings out the discussion of candidates. A number of aspirants have let it be known that they would serve the Democratic party if the honor of the nomination was thrust upon them. Others are spoken of as actual candidates for the nomination. The most favorably mentioned by the voters of this section and the most generally named in connection with the nomination is Charles A. Hardin, present judge of this Judicial District. It is now conceded should he decide to become a candidate for the Congressional nomination that there would be no other candidate from either of the counties composing his Judicial District for it is well known that the Democrats of Garrard, Lincoln, Boyle and Mercer are solidly behind the Judge if he should desire to leave the Judicial bench and go to represent the Eighth District in Washington. The fact that Judge Hardin is so well known and held in such popular esteem all over this Congressional District, being at this time Chairman of the State Central and Executive Committee of his party, makes him considered a most formidable candidate should he enter the race. He is not at this time a candidate, nor is he in anywise seeking the office. In fact it would be a sacrifice for him to make the race; but his friends seem to think if there appear a popular demand throughout the district, that he should become a candidate and that his services are desired, and needed, he would be willing to give up his position as Judge and serve his constituents, who have so honored him in the past, in Washington in the Lower House. This conclusion is based upon the opinion they have of him as a man who is devoted to the public interests and loyal to his party when his services are demanded. Of the many names mentioned as successor to Congressman Helm we are of the opinion that no one is so well prepared to lead the party as Judge Hardin.

He has served Mercer county eight years as County Attorney, the Thirteenth District ten years as Commonwealth Attorney, and is now serving his second term as Circuit Judge, and is an able and fluent speaker. Such a candidate as Judge Hardin would make is greatly needed on account of the many new and important national and international questions which are now before the people for immediate settlement. These special Congressional elections are frequently made the battle ground as a test of the sentiment of the people upon the position taken by the two parties and considered as an index of the whole nation. With this view the eyes of the nation may be fixed upon the Eighth District of Kentucky in the next few weeks.

This is certainly no time for quarrels and dissensions in our party. Political deals and traffic in the spoils of office by professional politicians should be frowned upon by the voters and party leaders.

The "favorite son" idea is a weak argument to secure votes for any aspirant in this contest. We need a candidate whose ability is known and whose fitness has been tested and tried to lead in this fight. For this reason the democrats of this district favor Judge Hardin for the nomination and are urging him to become a candidate.

Arm Broken

Mr. Alex West unfortunately had his left arm broken last Monday afternoon, which is causing him much pain as well as no little inconvenience. The injury resulted while leading a small pony, which became frightened and jumped against him, knocking him down the fall breaking the arm.

Rex Garage

Changes Hands.

Mr. S. T. Sanders who has run the Rex Garage for the past year sold his interest last week to Messrs. Frank and Virgil Conn, of this city and they have taken charge. The new firm will be known as Conn and Conn and will make a strong combination, both gentlemen being up-to-date mechanics of several years experience.

They have an important announcement for the next issue of the Record. Watch for it.

Death Claims

Infant Daughter.

Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Ross, of Bryansville, have the sympathy of their friends in the sad loss of their infant, baby, Jane Cuywood, its spirit being called to the God who gave it, last Friday. These beautiful lives of Mrs. Ross should be a source of comfort to the bereaved parents. "Here lies a rose, a budding rose, Blasted before its bloom; Whose innocence did sweets disclose Beyond that flower's perfume. To those who for her loss are grieved, This consolation's given, She's from a world of woe relieved, Blooms a rose in heaven."

Tubercular

Cattle Killed.

Last Monday eighteen head of Holstein cattle from the dairy herd of Lillard Miles, on the Sulphur Well pike, was shipped to Louisville to be slaughtered, thirteen of the above number having been found to be infected with tuberculosis. Dr. A. C. Winkler, of the State Veterinarian's office, Frankfort, was here last week and made the test and appraisement. Mr. Miles valued the herd at $3,000. In the herd were two young registered bulls and six heifers. A cow, belonging to Mrs. H. D. Burton was also sent to Louisville with Mr. Miles cattle.—Jesseman Journal.

Quite a number of these cows, from the herd of Mr. Miles have been sold in this county and a few in the town. It might be wise for their owners to have them inspected and if infected with tuberculosis report same to the State Veterinarian for appraisement.

Lexington

Opera House.

"The Man Who Came Back", after a tremendous run of over one solid year in New York and eight months in Boston, outlasting all of the other big successes of last season, will come to the Lexington Opera House for two performances on Monday and Tuesday March 24-25.

The play is by Jules Eckert Goodman, founded on a short story of John Fleming Wilson's, and gives, in vivid detail, an account of the journey of a man who sank from the top to the very depths, and there, in an opium den in Shanghai, found the girl who was to lead him the long way back again. Its intense interest held New Yorkers for thirteen solid months, even during the heat of summer, so that William A. Brady, the producer, was forced to institute extra Thursday matinees to accommodate the crowds.

Americans have always been noted for their generosity. If there is any barley flour left in this country, and it was proposed to ship it to the Germans, there would not be a dissenting voice.

VICTORY LOAN

Dates Formally

Announced.

Secretary of the Treasury Glass has formally announced that the Victory Liberty Loan Campaign will open April 21 and continue until May 10. Short term notes, maturing in not more than five years, will be issued instead of longer-term bonds.

While the amount of notes to be offered was not disclosed officially it is understood that $5,000,000,000 is the tentative figure, with the Treasury reserving the right to accept all over-subscriptions. The interest rate on the notes and the amounts to be exempted from taxation will not be determined until a week or two before the Campaign opens.

"After studying financial conditions in all parts of the country" said Secretary Glass, "I have decided the interests of the United States will best be served at this time by the issuance of short term notes rather than of long term bonds, which would have to bear the limited rate of interest of 4 1-4 per cent."

"The Victory Liberty Loan will therefore, take the form of notes of the United States maturing in not over five years from the date of issue. These notes will be as were the Liberty Loan bonds, the direct promise to pay of the United States, will be issued both in registered and coupon form, and the coupon notes will be in final form and will have attached the interest coupons covering the entire life of the notes. I am hopeful that the notes are being engraved form will be ready for delivery by the opening of the campaign, April 21."

"I am led to adopt the plan of issuing short term notes rather than long term bonds largely because of the fact that I believe a short term issue will maintain a price at about par after the campaign is ended far more readily than would a longer term issue."

J. R. HASELDEN

Elected Eminent

Commander.

At the annual election of officers of the Ryan Commandery, Knight Templars at Danville last week, our townsman, J. R. Haselden was unanimously elected Eminent Commander of this august body.

This is an honor well bestowed, for no more devoted member ever lived than the one they have seen fit to elect this Commander. Although living twelve miles from the lodge rooms, he looks the record and honor of being third in attendance during the past year.

Commander Haselden is a much larger man now than the picture would indicate, both physically and fraternally and was probably taken many years ago when he took his "first step in Masonry".

But this is not all, another Lancaster boy has also risen fast in this fraternal order, and he also was elected without a dissenting vote, as Generalissimo, which put him in line for the Eminent Commandership one year hence. We refer to our good friend and citizen, Henley V. Bastin. We claim that Mr. Bastin is one of the best posted men on Masonry in our city and Ryan Commandery could not have made better selections as officers, than the two gentlemen named.

Hospital Patients.

Four patients from this city are now in the Danville Hospital and all are doing well. Miss Cecil Batson operated upon for appendicitis several weeks ago has about recovered and will leave the hospital soon.

Mrs. Henrietta Raney was taken there last Monday for an operation and is doing well.

Lillian Layton Kelley, the twelve year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kelley, was stricken with appendicitis last Monday was successfully operated upon yesterday. Reports from her bedside this morning say she is doing fine.

Mrs. Leslie Sebastian, who was also operated upon about ten days ago is now improving, which will be gratifying news to her friends back home.

R. E. Henry sold a team of mules, wagon and harness to Jack Collings of this city for $815.00. Mr. Henry bought the team about one year ago for $700.

SENSATIONAL

Indictment Returned by Grand Jury. Other Court News.

The present grand-jury of the Garrard Circuit Court has only set three days but during that time have turned in eight indictments, one proving very sensational, in the indictment of Porter Dishon for "necrosy before the fact of wilful murder". He is a brother of T. E. Dishon who murdered his wife last August and then committed suicide, details of the fearful tragedy being given in this paper at the time.

The charge in the indictment says: "One Thomas Dishon, unlawfully, wilfully and feloniously and with malice aforethought, killed and murdered Lilly Dishon, by hanging her and when she escaped and his attempt was discovered, shooting and killing her with a pistol loaded with powder and ball and other hard substance and from which shooting and wounding, she then and there died; the said murder and killing being wilfully, maliciously and feloniously done with malice aforethought and before the time of the commission thereof and within twelve months last past, in Garrard County, Ky., and on the day of ———— 1918", said Porter Dishon did wilfully and maliciously and feloniously and with malice aforethought, counsel, advise and procure, said Thomas Dishon to murder the said Lilly Dishon, as aforesaid, and advised and counseled the said Thomas Dishon, to kill said Lilly Dishon and get rid of her; said Lilly Dishon being the wife of said Thomas Dishon, and escape and not be caught, and said Thomas Dishon in pursuance of said advise and counsel, did kill and murder, his wife as aforesaid."

A damage suit brought by the Administrator of Lilly Dishon against the Administrator of T. E. Dishon, for $25,000 was argued before Judge Harlan on demurrer. Motion of plaintiff to file amended petition, overruled, to which plaintiff excepted, but amended petition is made part of record and known as amended petition No. 1, for identification. It was further ordered and adjudged by the court that the demurrer to the petition be sustained, to which plaintiff excepted and it was the further ruling of the court that plaintiff's petition be dismissed, to which plaintiff objects and excepts and prays an appeal to the Court of Appeals, which was granted.

In the case of E. F. Spears and Son vs. A. P. Sloan, the jury found for the plaintiff in the sum of $95; W. B. Mason vs. Boyd Ison, plaintiff got a verdict of $85; J. B. Leuvel vs. Tarter, Ham and Co., jury found for the plaintiff in the sum of $375.71; J. R. Mount and Co. vs. R. L. Rose et al, resulted in finding for the defendant, the sum of $900.

Court adjourned Tuesday afternoon until Friday, March 28th. The Patriot Lick flood cases were all passed, as a compromise in all these cases is thought will be made soon.

Mass Meeting.

The chairman, Mr. A. D. Joseph, of the Armenian and Syrian relief committee of this county is making an earnest appeal in this issue for everybody to attend the mass meeting at the Christian church next Sunday afternoon. This is an important work and should not be overlooked by the good people of this county.

All those interested in this great work are asked to meet the chairman and others at the court house Friday evening, when final arrangements for the mass meeting Sunday will be completed and also committees appointed to look after the work on different parts of the county. Remember the date and hour.

DO YOUR DUTY!

Be at the Christian Church in Lancaster Sunday afternoon at 3 P. M. to learn how to save a human life.

You were ready to do your part during WAR TIMES, be just as ready to do your duty toward man-kind in TIMES OF PEACE.

There will be special music, several prominent speakers at this mass meeting to explain to you how to save A HUMAN LIFE. There will be no contribution asked for. DO YOUR DUTY AND ATTEND.

A. D. JOSEPH, Chairman.

A Fast Horse.

AUTO ZOMBRO—2:02 1-2, the fastest horse that ever made a season in Garrard county, will make the season of 1919 at the stables of Robert R. Fox, on the Lexington pike, near Marksbury.

Mr. Fox will also stand two fine Jacks at the same time and place. A full description and pedigrees will appear in the next issue of the Record.

CASEY

Danville Friends Hear of the Death of Mr. Millard Casey In France.

Danville friends Saturday received a cablegram announcing the death of Mr. Millard Casey in France where he had been a member of the American Expeditionary Forces. Last October he was wounded in action and from the injuries sustained at that time he never recovered. He was a son of Dr. Henry L. Casey, of this city, and was well known in this community. He volunteered his services to the government at the beginning of the war and rendered valuable service to his country. The news of his untimely death came as a great shock to his friends in this community.—Danville Advocate.

Mr. Casey is a brother of Dr. J. M. Casey, of this city, who is also with the American Expeditionary Forces.

BILLY KING Wounded Hero Returns From France.

His many friends in Danville were glad to welcome "Billy" King back home again today. Billy landed in the United States Wednesday after a fine record with the famous 5th Regiment of Marines in France and lost no time in returning to Danville, which he declares looks better to him than Paris or anything else that France has to offer. Billy enlisted in the Marines last spring and at the training camp had an opportunity to enter an officer's training school but turned it down in order to get overseas sooner. He landed in France in July and after a short period of training was assigned to the 5th Regiment, a part of the famous 2nd Division. The 2nd Division suffered a greater percentage of casualties than any other American division in the war and it was this division with its heroic marines which blocked the road to Paris at Chateau Thierry and Belle Woods and later distinguished itself in every battle until the armistice was signed. Billy went into action for the first time on September 12th in the St. Mihiel drive, the first all-American offensive. He also went through the terrible fighting in the Champagne drive and was in the Argonne offensive on the Verdun front where the Americans advanced day after day for two months in the face of the most terrific resistance of the whole war. No words can do justice to the heroism of the American troops who in this great battle broke the backbone of the German army and by the time of the armistice had accomplished the task which Marshal Foch had described would take six months of preparation and action. In this battle Billy was wounded by a machine gun bullet in the left arm, which is partially paralyzed as a result. He is home on a month's sick leave and is busy today receiving the congratulations of his friends on his splendid record and on his escape from death in the fiercest fighting in which American troops were engaged.—Danville Advocate

"THE BIRD OF PARADISE."

In "The Bird of Paradise", which will be seen at the Lexington Opera House, Friday and Saturday, March 21st and 22nd, with Saturday matinee, is a story of the land in which Robert Stevenson found "life most interesting"; the land "in which it seems always afternoon", where slender maidens, with black hair and crimson lips, dance in ways strange to European eyes. To carry out the illusion and atmosphere in the play, native musicians, dancers and singers are seen, and all the stage effects are of Hawaiian handiwork. Oliver Morosco, announces Florence Rockwell, as Luana, for the present tour of this popular offering.

Lot Sale.

In next week's issue the D. A. Thomas Realty Agency will tell you about the Auction lot sale to be held in Lancaster Saturday April 12th. This agency has recently purchased a very attractive piece of Blue Grass land right in city limits. Close in, and will subdivide into acre lots.

Mr. W. V. Gastineau sold a fine pair of mules to John Baldwin of Madison, for $750.00, and a two year old Jack to Missouri parties for $350. Mr. Gastineau also bought a nice mule of E. H. Meyers for $175.

GERMANY TO GET 370,000 Tons Of Supplies Monthly From Allies. Help Needed Until August.

BRUSSELS, March 15.—The German delegates to the conference here, regarding the taking over by the Allies of the German mercantile fleet and the provisioning of Germany, have definitely accepted the conditions imposed by the Allies.

A monthly ration for Germany of 370,000 tons of food stuffs was fixed by the allied commission which is in this city conferring with a German delegation as to the turning over of German merchant shipping and German-owned securities in payment for food shipments.

The Germans observed that these rations was smaller than they had requested, and were pessimistic as to the arrangement of satisfactory financial terms.

Germany expects that the Allies will provide food supplies until Aug. 15, which is the earliest possible date that flour from this year's harvest can be counted upon, said Under-Secretary of State Von Braun before leaving for Brussels where he took part in negotiations with an Allied commission relative to food shipments and the turning over to German shipping for the use of the Entente nations.

Herr Von Braun said Germany would ask for 1,400,000 tons of grain and a monthly importation of 100,000 tons of pork and fats, in addition to condensed milk, rice, oatmeal and other commodities particularly for invalids, infants and hospitals.

He estimated the cost of these shipments at five billion marks.

It is a matter of great importance, he said, that food should arrive at the earliest possible moment, and that the total amount to be provided be known, so that the government could adjust rations until the next harvest. "Only under these conditions is it possible to combat Bolshevism and bring the German people back to sane conditions of life, and political and industrial sobriety," he said.

Head Hurt.

Ollie Estes was pewed by a mule at his shop on Lexington street, last Monday while attempting to shoe. The calk of the shoe striking his head and inflicting a rather ugly but not serious wound.

Denton Farm Re-Sells.

Mr. B. F. Cotton who purchased the farm of Mr. R. R. Denton a few weeks ago has resold it to Alva Adkinson and others for $200, an acre. The farm contains about 76 acres and Mr. Denton received $170, an acre for it.

Franklin Agency.

Mr. R. M. Arnold, of Danville, has secured the agency for that popular car, the Franklin, for Garrard and Boyle counties. He will have some on exhibition here next Monday, county court day, and if you are thinking of buying a car, see Mr. Arnold.

New Offices.

Haselden Brothers have just completed the erection of an elegant suit of offices in the rear of their hardware store. The gradual increase in their immense stock has forced them to build these offices, which is a model of convenience and modern in every respect.

Wind Storm.

The windstorm last Monday afternoon blew down the barns of Mrs. C. A. Arnold and T. Pollard on the Lexington pike. Each barn was a total wreck, some parts being blown for several hundred yards. Both parties carried windstorm insurance.

Insure with Gaines and you will always have protection and policies will be paid promptly. (Adv.)

A few hens if properly cared for, will produce enough eggs for the family and have some to sell. If you will make B. A. THOMAS' POULTRY REMEDY a part of their daily diet you will have eggs at all seasons of the year for it is a natural egg maker. W. A. DICKERSON.

U. S. TRADE COMMISSION PROBES MANY LIBERTY BOND SWINDLING CASES

TREASURY AND CAPITAL ISSUES
COMMITTEE SUBMIT DATA—
FAKERS EMPLOY WOMEN.

NUMEROUS cases of fraudulent operations by stock promoters who are alleged to be swindling Liberty Bond owners are before the Federal Trade Commission at Washington for investigation. The commission is having daily hearings at which testimony is being offered by those who have been victimized or their representatives and the commission has invited anyone who has such information to send it in.

The first testimony considered was a list of complaints compiled by the Treasury Department and the Capital Issues Committee. Other data which is to be given the investigators has been gathered by commercial interests.

Be a Sleuth!

Get his name!

Particularly if he tries to exchange his securities for your Liberty Bonds—

GET HIS NAME!

Get not only his name, and address if possible, but get all the "literature" he has. Then send it all to

The Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D. C.

The Federal Trade Commission act provides a penalty or a fine or imprisonment for those who fail to report or who falsely report to the commission. The investigation is being speeded up to protect the coming issue, the Victory Liberty Loan.

Efforts of the government to check the swindles being perpetrated by the suave, well-dressed stock promoter have had such a dampening effect on his activities that he is taking refuge behind skirts. Women are now being employed, elderly-looking women with maternal ways which are calculated to disarm suspicion.

The latest warning from the Treasury Department is:

"Do not let the appearance or the dress or the sex of the Liberty Bond sculper disarm your suspicion. No reputable stock sales person will try to trade for your Liberty Bonds. Hold your bonds!"

Greatest of All War Pictures Soon to Be Released by Treasury

The Treasury Department is soon to send out over the country the greatest war picture ever drawn.

It will be called "The Price of Peace" and is an assembling of the most thrilling of the thousands of feet of film taken by official photographers of the war college who followed the Yank from his home to the front and back again.

The film will be released only through Liberty Loan committees and will be shown free.

Insurance Men List Liberty Bonds at Par

The national convention of insurance commissioners recently decided that in the auditing of all insurance companies for the year ending December 31, 1918, par would be allowed for all Liberty Bonds.

Financiers see in this action of the always careful and always conservative insurance commissioners a certain indication that the present low prices of Liberty Bonds of the first four issues are only temporary and that the bonds are soon to go above par.

The action should be an incentive to the private owner of Liberty Bonds to hang on.

Liberty Loan Levy

THE BURGLAR

By, GERALD ST. ETIENNE.

It was exactly 10:30. For three hours Katherine Jeffery had been working without a stop at her typewriter. Not once had she raised her eyes from her notes. As she finished the last letter she put it with the others and placed it on the manager's desk, ready for his signature in the morning. She looked at her wrist watch, and discovered that she had finished sooner than she had expected. She sat down at her desk again and fingered the keys of her machine. She was tired, but it seemed good to feel their touch again after being away from them so long.

Night work the second day was a record for her. The salary was a large one, however, and it would not hurt her to do a little extra work after the three months' vacation she had had. The thought of the vacation was a pleasant one. For eight years she had worked and saved for that one winter vacation at Long Beach. It would have been worth while to have saved twenty-eight years, she told herself, as she thought of the glorious time she had had. It had been exciting from the start, but the real pleasure had not come until after she had met Oliver Law. It seemed now that she had known him all her life. In just a month he would be back home, and then it wouldn't be long before she would give up office work forever, she felt sure of it.

The gloomy stillness of the office brought Katherine back to earth. She had been building castles for half an hour. The realization that she was the only person in that vast office building was rather a chilling one. The thought of the dark corridor she had to pass through on her way out, at that late hour, caused her to put the cover on her machine and hasten into her coat. She was just slipping on her rubbers when she heard a sound outside in the corridor. Her heart gave a jump and she caught her breath. A slight cough told her that someone was there. A shuffle of feet told her that it was a man. The door opened suddenly.

"Well," Katherine said as coolly as she could. "I have my hand on the telephone."

The man faced her in surprise. "Katherine," he cried, "what are you doing there?"

"Oliver!" There was surprise and horror in Katherine's tone. "You a burglar?"

"But, my dear—" he began. "Stop! Not another word! Don't dare call me your dear! How dare you come here to rob this office?"

He laughed. The laugh seemed to make a spark of primitive rage in Katherine.

"You watch! Don't you dare laugh!" she cried. "Don't you speak another word. I will not listen to you. The sound of your voice will make me feel nothing but repulsion for you. To think that I cared for a crook like you. To think that I thought I loved you and you allowed me to think it! You are a burglar, a common burglar, who came here to rob this office."

"I would not really do such a thing," he said. "I was only testing you. I love you, Katherine, no matter what your opinion is of me."

"Love me? Then why have you done this?" Her tone had changed, her anger almost disappeared.

"Perhaps I was driven to it," he suggested. "This is my first offense."

"Driven to it," she asked tremulously. Surely a man does not have to be dishonest. Oh, Oliver, were you too extravagant this winter? Why didn't I think of that? You spent a lot of money on me, and I allowed you to do it because I thought you were rich."

"It would be awful to spend a term in prison," he muttered wistfully.

"I will not call the police," she pushed the telephone away from her. "Promise me this will be your last attempt at burglary."

"I promise," he declared, earnestly. "Oh I see you home?"

"I am too nervous to go through the corridor," she said, doubtfully. "You can see me safely that far."

He did not leave her until they had reached her boarding house. She would not allow him to kiss her in parting.

There were traces of the trying night in Katherine's face the next morning. She was dazed when she arrived at the office, but as she started her work she banished the feeling with an effort. Shortly after ten she heard the outer door open and noticed the other members of the staff glancing in the direction of the person who had entered. As she faced around Katherine could not hold back her cry of surprise. "Oliver!" He was coming toward her, but the manager intercepted him.

"When did you get back, Mr. Law?" she heard the manager ask, as in a dream.

"Last night. I dropped into the office on my way to see if there were any letters that had not been forwarded to me," Oliver said, as he pushed his way past.

"I know now," she said before he could speak. "You are the junior partner. Oh, Oliver, what an idiot you must think me. I must have been crazy last night."

"It is something we can laugh over in the years to come," he said. "Everyone is staring at us. May I tell them where we met and announce our engagement?"

"Yes," she answered, as he took her hand.

Water Protects Coal.
An interesting result of recent experiments with coal is the demonstration of the benefits of submerging the mineral in water. Coal deteriorates in the air, and there is the danger of spontaneous combustion, while when submerged not only was the fire danger eliminated, but scarcely any deterioration was shown. Experimentally, coal kept in the air showed from 2 to 10 per cent of loss in nine months, while when submerged there was scarcely any loss at all.

The Mansfield District

The mineral wealth of the Missouri district is abundantly shown in the birdseye view at the top of this page. Mines and smelters paying prodigious profits are to be seen on every hand.

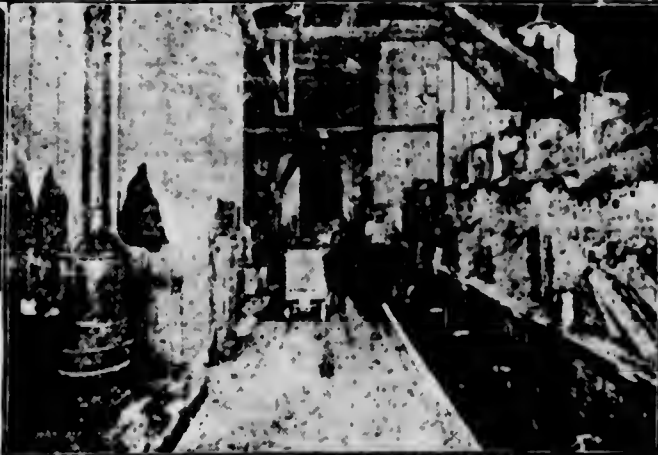

The reason lies in the fact that there is to be found the richest and purest ore deposit in the entire region.

In fact, the State of Missouri is the largest lead and zinc producing State, producing 32% of the output in the entire United States.

It is the theory of geologists that this point, Mansfield, on the high ridge of the Ozarks, marks the spot of a prehistoric volcano which deposited this vast store of mineral wealth by an eruption.

At any rate, it is there and is being mined and smelted at tremendous profits.

It is an absolute fact that T. T. Beeler refused last Friday an offer of $50,000 cash for forty acres of their holdings immediately adjoining the first mill. This is the forty acres north of the spot where the new company is to be located. Immediately adjoining is the Red Bird lead and zinc mine of W. E. Caldwell (of Louisville). Very rich ore was found in this mine at a depth of only thirty-five feet.

Profits in Lead and Zinc

When you buy stock in a lead and zinc mine you are not taking chances or buying a "pig in a poke," but you see what you are getting. The property is proven by drills, and you absolutely know that the mineral is there in vast quantities before mining is commenced.

A striking example of the success of this mine is the Eagle Pitcher Co. This company made forty millions of dollars in the past five years.

Five years ago this district was an empty prairie—today there are several hundred mills in successful operation and one acre of this land has produced a million dollars in ore.

The first company was composed of T. M. Crutcher, President; N. C. Cureton, Secretary, and W. E. Newbold, Treasurer, with the following Directors: T. M. Crutcher, Neil Wilson Funk, William Phillips, N. C. Cureton, M. N. Cralle, Charles A. Funk, T. T. Beeler, G. W. Scott, with Hon. E. J. McDermott as attorney.

The Capital Stock was placed at $100,000 and is owned almost entirely by Louisville men and those of nearby towns.

This stock paid 2% in January and 3% in February. A list of these stockholders has been printed and can be obtained on application to the company so that this statement may be readily verified either by mail or telephone.

The Louisville Mansfield Lead and Zinc Company has just been organized with T. M. Crutcher, President; T. T. Beeler, Vice President; N. C. Cureton, Secretary; W. E. Newbold, Treasurer, and with the following Directors: J. C. Mahon, T. M. Crutcher, N. C. Cureton, T. T. Beeler and W. E. Newbold.

The Capital Stock is $500,000 with shares at $1.00 each, fully paid and non-assessable. $200,000 of this stock has already been taken up, but the rest will be offered immediately to those desiring a very profitable and safe investment.

EASIER TO BUY FIFTH LOAN BONDS

Rising Prices in Fourth Loan called for many Sacrifices—Now Living Cost is Falling.

When the people are asked plans in April to lend Uncle Sam their money in the Fifth (Victory) Liberty Loan he will find them better situated for making a large subscription—and making it more easily than was the case in the Fourth Loan. Many will wonder how that can be true. A little reflection on their part will prove that it is so.

Many of the materials used in the great industries of the country have sharply declined in price, and ocean freight rates have just recently been lowered from 65 to 75 per cent of former standards. These things may not touch the people directly, but they do in the long run. The importation of commodities from foreign countries will help to make up for the ship loads we have sent out to aid the Allies across the water, and make easier our living.

Manufacturers, it is announced, are now offering wooden clothes at 30 per cent below war time prices, with few takers. Cottons have been marked down by the makers from 25 to 35 per cent. Food prices have moved down somewhat, though Government guarantees have retarded the decline. These will soon be arranged and food will return to normal again.

So it is seen that readers of this publication can buy bonds more and easier as prices continue to decline.

The Government needs the money that the people of the churches lend; the interest return will be high and that it is the best and safest security in the world no one will doubt. Uncle Sam will make his call for the support of the churches and their people and will give value received and more—for their subscriptions.

The Victory Liberty Loan will be floated the latter part of April. It will be for an amount to be announced by Secretary of the Treasury.

DIXIE HIGHWAY

To Be Completed by the Cincinnati Auto Club

Each Member Is to be Assessed $2. for the Purpose.

With a view to raising $6,500 needed to complete the Dixie Highway, Dr. C. L. Bonfield, President of the Cincinnati Automobile Club, has asked members of the organization to contribute $2 each to a fund for this purpose.

In his appeal President Bonfield asserts that the completion of the Dixie Highway ranks with improved railroad terminals, improved river and rapid transit as necessary betterments.

The Federal Government has given its approval to the general scheme, and it will be possible to let contracts and begin construction of a seven-and-one-half mile link through Rockcastle and Laurel counties, Kentucky, as soon as the $6,500 is raised and placed on deposit.

Much Wastage of Potatoes.

The annual potato crop of the United States is about 400,000,000 bushels. Government statistics show that of this at least 75,000,000 bushels are lost. This wastage is due to the culls, rotting and freezing of potatoes in shipment and the lack of tenible markets.

Fought Unnecessary Battle.

Very dramatic was the conclusion of the Peninsular war. Wellington had just won his triumph at Toulouse, the casualties on both sides numbering some 15,000, and the armies were retreating or sorrowing, when a tired courier rode up to announce that Napoleon had abdicated five days before, and the war was over.

The Demand For

Hog Products.

The prospect that the trade in foods for Germany will soon be open is of interest to the American farmer. The Breeders Gazette, discussing the European situation, says:

America's supply of hog product is being subjected to a constant depletion by the necessity for replenishing Europe's bare larder. After four months of unprecedented slaughter, during which approximately 20,000,000 hogs were converted into edible product, stock on this side of the Atlantic are not only unseasonably light but steadily diminishing, as ship space is available at Atlantic ports. A decrease of 15,000,000 pounds of lard and 28,000,000 pounds of meats in February, normally a month of heavy increases, tells the story. The prediction was made early in the winter that heavy as the season's hog crop was known to be, there would not be enough meats or fats to go round.

That the whole civilized world is short of fats admits of no dispute. Not only America's allies, but Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden are levying toll on piles in packers' cellars, while Germany is clamoring for food, and if half of what is told of economic conditions in central and eastern Europe is true every pound of product available will be required not only this year, but next. Meat at present prices may be a luxury, theoretically, but in practice it is a necessity.

One of Germany's greatest needs is fats, and the product of the hog will be necessary to supply this demand. In the arrangement that is expected to be the outcome of the negotiations at Brussels for provisioning Germany, there will be a large demand for the American hog products. This will mean a still greater drain upon the results of the unprecedented slaughter referred to by the Breeders Gazette. It will mean, too, that hog prices are likely to remain high.—Lexington Herald.

RAISE HOGS AT LESS COST

You can easily do this by giving them a few doses of H. A. THOMAS' HOG POWDER every week. It causes your hogs to digest and assimilate all the food that is fed them. It is a tonic and conditioner, thereby causing your hogs to fatten in shorter time and on less feed. We sell it.

UTILITIES.

A few months ago, among a group of towns in one of the northern states, the type of service being rendered by the local railroads created an acute situation. Freight charges were exorbitant and deliveries nearly always a matter of speculation.

The causes of the disease suggested the cure. A few opportunists got together, put up some money, and started operating a motor truck service among the towns. The different communities were inter-dependent, and welcomed the new enterprise as Elijah welcomed the ravens. Consignments of goods began reaching the consignees on time. People with something to sell were no longer afraid of promising delivery before the end of the next war. Both in rates and speed the truck service competed successfully with the railroads. Everything was lovely.

It was altogether too lovely for the politicians. Politicians never want things to be lovely. They can't pose as saviors when no one is asking to be saved. They can't agitate for reforms when nobody can name anything needing reformation.

So the professional patriots reached the verdict that the truck service was too aggressively useful. It was, in fact, a utility. And utilities are things which must always be taken from the people who manage them properly and be run by professional elocutionists who don't know how to run anything, from a lathe to a cigar stand.

Accordingly they demanded legislation to regulate the service, and tell it what it could and couldn't do—particularly what it couldn't. And the truck system—which once satisfied everybody—seems in a fair way to die from overdoses of legislation—just like the railroads.

Anything that everybody finds useful is a utility, and as such is pie for politicians. If you ever invent a new way of using mineral producing, or preserving foodstuffs, or conserving energy, or developing motive power from the tides or solar heat or anything else, don't do it too well. At least, don't do it well enough to make it useful to everybody.

Life was less complex in the day when it challenged each man to do the best he could. We must learn a greater precision, now that the art of living consists in doing one's work just badly enough to escape being forbidden to do it all.

MEDICAL SERVICE IN THE SCHOOLS.

The greatest asset we have—far beyond crops and cattle and stocks and bonds—is the children of our land. They will be the citizens of the next generation. And if they grow up to health and strength it will mean that they grow up to efficiency and power.

It is our manifest duty to take whatever means we can to bring about the most favorable conditions for the health of growing children. That as a nation we have failed lamentably in this respect is shown by the number of men in the selective draft who were rejected for physical imperfection. Thirty-three per cent of our young men—one out of every three—were below the normal physical condition which makes a man fit for army service.

Many of these young men were subject to physical disabilities which could readily have been prevented or remedied if they had been recognized and properly dealt with in the subject's childhood.

A thorough physical examination of each child of school age should be made twice a year. This would lead to the detection of many incipient troubles and their cure. The time will come when we shall see the services of a doctor and nurse available at every school in the land, as part of the school system.

The result will be a healthier, happier and more efficient manhood and womanhood. We should all advocate such a provision for the health of children and should do all in our power to bring it about.

THE DETAILS AT LAST.

prevailed upon to elucidate the doctrines of bolshevism. He replied with the usual generalities about the abolition of wealth, etc., and being asked to give details of the program he explained that money must be abolished.

There would be a substitute, of course. We were not to return to the system of exchange and barter. There would be a certain kind of currency, but it could not be accumulated. A man who did any work would get a ticket at the end of each working day, representing his remuneration. It would have a date stamped upon it, and its validity would end in 48 hours.

He could either spend it in that time or lose it, and in this way the saving of money would be impossible. There would, therefore, be no capital.

Every sturdy community is largely a community of homeowners—not rent payers. But try to imagine a man buying a house with a bunch of stamped and dated tickets which will all expire in 48 hours. Multiply this condition by the number of the population and you can visualize one of the funny features which we shall see when bolshevism achieves order out of chaos—when, in a word, it becomes systemized. It is equally easy to imagine any kind of systematization under bolshevist government.

IN CASE.

Before the end of the war the English had built and operated submarines that carried twelve-inch guns. All the tests applied to them proved them capable of everything that submarines had ever accomplished—and then some.

The submarine is the weapon which England fears more than any other. It is the greatest menace to the integrity of the British Empire. England wanted submarines tabooed at the peace conference—which is just what happened.

To insure a verdict that a certain type of warfare is too horrible for civilized nations a certain nation equips itself to prosecute this horrible type of warfare more horribly than it has ever been prosecuted. To prevent dirty tricks a nation shows itself ready to be the dirtiest in the crowd.

It seems slightly illogical—yet eminently practical. No nation is more anxious for peace than ourselves, but we shall insure it none the more securely by proving ourselves incapable of handling out rough stuff.

We are a little over-anxious about our role of panoplied crusader in the white surplice. The surplice will be none the less white because of the panoply, and if our record as a nation is not good enough to guarantee us against any charges of lust of conquest, America has lived in vain.

The grocer has received many complaints about the holding up of the most part of his prices after the war is over. The public that gives itself up to this idle talk is not well informed and should strive to be before smirching the neighborhood grocer as a hold-upist and purse-puller.

As a matter of fact the war is over, but not so the goods laid in for the supposed continuance of the war by the enterprising merchant. The buying was made by this person when he thought the prices were perhaps the lowest he would be likely to find them in some while. When negotiating his purchases he had the welfare of the people, his customers, at heart and was striving to secure for them the lowest retail prices that he could while the securing was good. The fact that the war ended

DAWN OF PEACE BRINGS ITS OWN RESPONSIBILITIES Chaos Must be Made Orderly and This Means America's Fi- nancial Aid.

When the armistice was signed last November 11, the first sensation of the Allied world was that of surprise. The Allies had set their teeth and were preparing to go grimly on, fighting for years if need be. Then came the German collapse, expected doubtless by Marshall Foch, by General Pershing and Haig, but with a sense of surprise by the rest of the world.

Never was there a greater dawning than the coming of that day of peace to the world. It marked the crashing downfall of Kaiserism and end of Kaiserism. It was the final "Deutschum" that had threatened the world for nearly fifty years. The Hohenzollerns and the Hapsburgs left their thrones vacant. The end of an old and evil dream had come.

The historic concept of a world ruled by overlords of Potsdam, faded.

It was the beginning of what must be a brighter day for all of Europe and for the world. On that day World Democracy was given a chance. It gave the reluctant earth an outlook into a future that should be free of wars for generations.

But the signing of the armistice was only the first step in a long task of rehabilitating a shattered world. The Peace Congress was its worthy deliberations is the next step. Even its labors cannot be final and complete when the treaties are signed. For the provisions that are agreed upon there must be carried out. It will be necessary to see that they are carried out.

The German chaos must be made orderly. Russia must be put in order. Bolshevism, a menace and a threat, must go. The Balkans, the most dangerous spot in Europe for a generation must be made orderly and kept that way. All this means American troops in Europe for a length of time that no man can reasonably fix. Conditions will change and our plans must change with them. All this, too, means farther American financial support of the stricken countries.

And this financial aid means Liberty Bonds. That is one of the ways of the Liberty Loan and why the purchase of War Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps should be continued.

REINVEST

Your Bond Interest In W. S. S. Formal Re- quest Made By Treas- ury Department In Announcing Coupon Day.

Invest the interest on your patriotism in patriotism. This was the request by the Treasury Department directed to holders of bonds of the Third Liberty Loan, Saturday, March 15, is "interest day" for the owners of the Third Liberty Loan bonds, and the Treasury Department is anxious to secure the reinvestment of the interest paid to coupon holders in government securities.

Bond interest coupons virtually are the same as cash. Holders may have them redeemed at any bank, but the best place to take them is to the Post Office, where the Postmaster will exchange War Savings and Thrift Stamps for the coupons. Buyers of Liberty Bonds should have forgotten, and should still forget that they have made these investments in so far as present interest is concerned. They should not take a dollar away from Uncle Sam when he needs it so badly. Buy War Savings Stamps and compound your interest for the good days that are to come.

The owners of war bonds issued to date are being paid approximately $935,000,000 a year from the Treasury as interest on the money they loaned the government.

These interest payments represent free money which is available for immediate reinvestment. As interest coupons it represents cash and is earning nothing. Reinvested in government securities it becomes interest-bearing. The money earned again becomes money-earning.

The Post Office Department has ruled that Liberty Bond interest coupons may be accepted as cash at all postoffices in the country for the purchase of Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps. It is expected that a large percentage of the interest earned by Liberty Bonds will be immediately turned into War Savings Stamps to earn further interest.

To The Farmers And Housekeepers, Build Martin Boxes.

Doubtless every one knows the value of the purple martin, which usually makes its appearance in Kentucky from April 1st, to the 15th, and which is one of the greatest insect destroyers of the bird specie. And since farmers of Kentucky lose thousands of dollars annually through the medium of the insect and since it is most imperative that the blue martin be encouraged to the fullest extent to come and remain with us, I feel, that injustice to the hungry, starving millions, that every housekeeper and every farmer in Kentucky should at once erect poles and place upon same a simple and substantial martin box as a home for these most valuable birds.

It will only necessitate a little time and the expenditure of a very small amount of funds and will result in a saving of almost an unlimited amount of foods and feeds.

Therefore, please do not put it off, or "let George do it", but begin today the erection of homes for these busy, useful and badly needed little birds.

Mut S. Cohen,
Commissioner of Agriculture.

CASUALTIES Over 240,000 In Fight- ing. To Keep 509,- 000 Men.

Battle casualties of the American army in France, as shown by revised divisional records announced recently by Gen. March totaled 240,197. These include killed in action, wounded, missing in action, and prisoners. There probably will be some slight further revision as final reports are received.

The 2nd Regular Division show the greatest losses in the revised list, with 24,429. The 1st Division came next with 23,973. The 28th (Pennsylvania) led National Guard and National Army Divisions, being fourth in the list with 14,117. The 32d (Michigan and Wisconsin), was fifth with 14,268.

In the new list the 42d Division (Rainbow) reported a total of battle casualties of 12,252; the 77th (New York Metropolitan National Army), 9,423; the 26th (New England), 8,955; the 27th (New York), 7,940; the 30th (Tennessee, North Carolina and South Carolina), 6,893.

GROWING CLOVER TO ENRICH SOIL

Purpose Is to Provide Greatest Amount of Nitrogen and Vegetable Growth.

CUT THE FALL CROP FOR HAY

Second Year Crop Should Be Clipped
From 8 to 12 Inches High and Allowed to Remain on Ground
—Tractor Is Effective.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Sweet clover is grown on many corn-belt farms for the express purpose of soil improvement, for which purpose it is unequalled by any other legume.

In cases where sweet clover is grown for this purpose the end in view is to provide the greatest possible amount of nitrogen in the soil and vegetable growth to be plowed under. It is clear that the second year crop which would otherwise be devoted to seed production will give the greatest growth in soil improvement for there are difficulties in plowing under this crop unless certain methods of handling it are followed.

Cut Fall Crop for Hay.

The fall crop of the first year should be cut for hay, which will not lessen seriously the amount of material finally returned to the soil. About the middle of May the second year crop should be clipped from 8 to 12 inches high and allowed to remain on the ground. In order to prevent too heavy a growth it may be necessary to clip the crop again early in July, this time from 12 to 18 inches high, if possible. This clipping also remains on the field. After the second clipping considerable growth and some seed will be produced, all of which, together with the two clippings, may be plowed under later in the fall without special difficulty.

Tractor Is Effective.

This is the method that should be followed if horses are to be used for plowing; but when a tractor is available clipping is unnecessary, for with this source of power a very heavy crop of second-year growth can be plowed under satisfactorily. On several occasions large acreages of sweet clover which have failed to produce seed have been plowed under by the use of a tractor and gang plows equipped with special pointers, which are very effective in turning under and completely covering large amounts of vegetable matter of this kind.

FERTILIZERS NOW ON HAND

Farmers, for First Time in Several Years, Will Be Able to Obtain Ample Supply.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

For the first time in several years American farmers will probably be able to secure adequate supplies of fertilizers for use this spring. The supply of nitrogenous materials is regarded as ample because large stocks of nitrate of soda which were brought into the country for munition purposes are now available for agriculture and, in addition, the producing capacity of ammonium sulphate plants has been increased since 1913 from about 200,000 tons to approximately 400,000 tons.

The department of agriculture also has purchased out of a $10,000,000 revolving fund a supply of nitrate of soda which will be distributed to farmers at cost for cash, the price being $81 a ton, plus freight.

There is in the country a large surplus of sulphuric acid-producing capacity, and native supplies of phosphate rock are available practically to any extent demanded. Some shortage of potash may continue, as it is not thought that supplies can be obtained in time for use this spring either from Alsace or from Germany.

HANDLE TUBERS CAREFULLY

Potatoes Should Not Be Treated as Though They Were Cobblestones—Are Living Things.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Potatoes should be handled carefully and not as though they were cobblestones. The potato is a living thing with a protective skin, which it is able to keep intact if it has a fair chance.

WHERE THE MONEY'S TO GO.

One of the questions most frequently asked in connection with the Victory-Liberty loan is: "Where is the money to go?"

Folks find it hard to understand why Uncle Sam needs so many billions of dollars more now than the war is over.

Which after all isn't surprising.

But the average man fails to consider the tremendous preparation that Uncle Sam had made before the armistice was signed. Fails to understand that when the German general staff decided to surrender Uncle Sam was just about ready to begin fighting.

And in getting ready he had spent money by the carload. But had prepared in a way that meant utter defeat for Germany.

THE GERMAN GENERAL STAFF KNEW THIS IF WE FOLKS HERE AT HOME DID NOT.

They knew that we had more than 2,000,000 men in France and Belgium. That we were perfecting our airplane program. That we were producing munitions on a scale never approached by either England or France. That we were manufacturing gas shells at a rate ten times greater than Germany could make them after four years of experience. They knew that we would have an army of 1,000,000 men by the summer of 1919.

This knowledge and the realization that they could not hope to stand up in the face of the onslaught that was ahead of them, forced the general staff to plead for peace and sign an armistice whose terms meant nothing but complete capitulation, spelled nothing short of disgrace and utter defeat.

And in accomplishing this Uncle Sam had not only spent all the proceeds of the Fourth Liberty loan and all the returns from the 1918 tax collections, but had anticipated largely the Fifth loan and the 1919 tax income.

The fact is that much of this money has been spent already. And the fact that it was spent to such effective purpose is entirely responsible for the quick and unexpected ending of the war.

And every man who appreciates what that expenditure did; what it accomplished, how it forced the Germans to quit cold, and that there is still a big lot of overhanging bills to pay to say nothing of bringing the boys back home—

Will subscribe to the Victory-Liberty Loan to the limit.

Our philosopher says: Since I've learned about bacteria being in my soil, it has helped me a whole lot. Honest, my land don't seem dead to me any more. Appears like it's a kinder furry tale brought up to date for me.

How Shall Ger-

many Pay?

Three theories have developed at the Peace Conference concerning the principle of war reparation. The American, British, and French.

The American theory is that reparation should cover only such damage as was done by her in deliberate and criminal destruction in violation of the laws of war and of nations. Under this heading would come such barbaric acts as the ruthless destruction of cathedrals, unnecessary pillage of farms and houses, etc.

The British view is that, since in civil law all damage must be paid by the aggressor, Germany should be compelled to pay, not only such costs as America would exact but also all the expenses contracted by the Allies in their conduct of the war including the expenses involved in raising, equipping, transporting and maintaining their armies.

The French view is that reparation should include all that England demands, but the French make the stipulation that there should be a sequence of payment, that is, that Germany and Austria should pay first the bill demanded in the American scheme for destruction in violation of international law, may pay the other bills the bills England would demand later, as the state of her finances would allow.

It is claimed that there is no great difference between the French and the American views when we take into consideration the fact that Germany may be unable to do more than pay the bills she will owe on the first count—that is the American plan.

Under the American proposal England would be able to collect reparation from Germany only to the amounts of damage caused by her airplane and Zeppelin raids in English territory, the destruction of merchant shipping and the like. The bills of the United States and British colonies would be for losses inflicted creditors under the American scheme on them through the submarine warfare on merchant shipping. The chief would be Belgium, Serbia and Roumania, the countries which suffered the bulk of criminal damage.

BRANDING MARY

By IMES MACDONALD.

"Contrary Mary, don't be scarey, Guard your garden wall. Bare little Cape, snooty fairy Finally gets them all. And in your breast he'll shaft his dart; I swear this unto you— And pierce your now rebellious heart, For he's contrary, too."

Mary Rayburn knelt in her canoe and clung breathlessly to the low-hanging branches overhead that screened her as she watched the slinger lift his paddle and suddenly with one long sweeping stroke drive his own canoe into the hiding place beside hers.

"A—h," he smiled, "at last!" Mary was startled and only stared. "After all this time," he went on, "I've found you."

"Why—have you been looking for me?" she at last found her tongue. "Don't you remember?" he chided her. "Don't you remember that day I saw you on the beach at Coromondo? You wore a blue bathing suit and a yellow cap."

She shook her head. "I've never been there."

"I guess you're mistaken," she said as he hummed the air of his song and, "and—I think I'd better be going."

She half arose to disentangle a dead branch that had caught over the bow of her canoe—it tilted and with a little gasp of chilled surprise she found herself, in the water. Almost instantly he was beside her. Then he took hold of her and held her high in his arms.

"You—you needn't hold me so long," she protested indignantly.

"Long," he chuckled. "I'm only trying you down before I put you back in the canoe. Believe me, you're one wet woman."

And finally he hunched over and set her down in her canoe.

"Here," he ordered. "Drag my canoe along behind and I'll tow us up around the bend where there's a sand—we can land on."

He procured a bathing suit and a rain coat.

"No back up there somewhere," he directed, "and put on these dry things. Then bring your things back here and spread them out on that bush. This sun'll dry 'em in a couple of hours."

She studied him silently for a moment and then silently took the things he offered and went back toward the thickly wooded shore. And a few moments later she returned with the raincoat wrapped about her and her hair tumbled down her back.

"Cold?" he asked. She shook her head. He got out a coffee pot and a frying pan, talking in his droll way entirely unconscious of her shy reserve.

After they had eaten they sat there while Chalmers smoked. She studied him covertly at every opportunity as they chatted and talked, but she had persistently refused to give him any knowledge of herself other than the first name of Mary, which he had guessed. She watched him curiously as he took a charred stick and marked a mystic sign on the smooth skin of her arm.

"What is it?" she asked looking down on the circle he had made.

"I've put my brand on you," he smiled into her eyes. "I've a ranch in California, the Circle Bar—and that's my brand."

"Oh?" she murmured, rubbing the mark off with her hand, at the same time realizing regretfully that it was time for her to go. So she gathered up her clothes and went back into the trees to put them on.

"Silly wrinkled, but nice and dry," she laughed, as she climbed into her canoe a few moments later.

"Am I going to see you again, Mary?" he asked earnestly. "Perhaps I'll come this way again," she smiled, as she swept on down the river and out of sight.

That night Chalmers took the painter's outfit that hung as a decoration on the wall of his shack and dressed himself for the costume ball that was to be held several miles below at the famous Windermere Inn, one of the most interesting resorts in the Maine woods. When he arrived the ball was in full swing.

In the center of one group stood a delightful Spanish dancer who turned gayly to speak to some one passing and revealed to Chalmers a round bare shoulder, on which had been printed with a black eyebrow pencil the brand of the Circle Bar.

Instantly he stood before the group and swept his high-crowned hat, which bore the same insignia, a deep Spanish bow, as he took the dancer's hand.

"The brand is mine," he explained apologetically to the rest of the group, indicating the mark on her shoulder, "and anything that bears the brand of the Circle Bar is mine also." And he led her toward the veranda.

"I wondered if you'd be here tonight," she murmured when they reached the shadows.

"My brand is on you, Mary dear," he said, "and I'll never let you go."

"I—I don't want to go," she whispered.

And it is reported that somebody saw somebody that saw the Cow Puncher kissing the Spanish dancer, though of course it might not have been true.

Hospital Has Farm.

Amerien has a big English farm of 186 acres in connection with its Red Cross Hospital which will take care of 3,000 American sick or wounded soldiers. The farm will give these men the needed amount of exercise and occupation for hands and heads while producing a vast amount of food. Sixty dairy cattle, 125 hogs and about 1000 hens will be kept.

WHAT THEY PUT IN.

Comparisons never become more odious than when we stay-at-homes endeavor to stack up our performances against what the boys in khaki did over yonder along the French front.

Then when we try to measure the dollars we lent against the lives they lost! The wounds they received. The hardships they suffered.

Then when our contribution is set up against what they put in.

For every one of them put his life in jeopardy from the moment he took the oath to serve his country.

Some 70,000 of them paid the extreme price. Never came back.

Some 200,000 others were wounded in greater or less degree. Some of them will be physical wrecks the rest of their lives. Many of them will have to learn all over again the task of self support. Thousands will be years in getting back to a normal physical condition.

Not one of them but put in all he had when he went overseas. Not one of them but took his life in his hand when he embarked.

And not one of you stay-at-homes but would give everything of value you possess on this earth for your life.

These boys in khaki had no such chance.

Uncle Sam asked their lives if need be. And they put themselves in his hands. Life of limb or liberty, it mattered not. There was no limit.

Don't make the mistake of trying to compare your sacrifices with theirs.

Don't try to put off the Victory-Liberty Loan salesman when he comes around, with the claim that you have done all you can; that you have gone the limit.

You haven't. And no one knows it better than YOU.

And if you give your conscience a chance you will do better this time than you have in any of the preceding loans.

For Uncle Sam needs the money. His honor is at stake. And yours.

You can rescue both by putting in every dollar you can scrape up.

Even then you will not be out of debt.

Is His For Asking.

Soil and fertilizer experiments are being tried year after year on test fields in Graves, McCracken, Logan, Muhlenberg, Shelby, Madison, Laurel and Fayette counties. In many of these tests manure is returned to plots in proportion to the crops they produced. In this manner a practical system of farming is represented in which it is determined what fertilizers are necessary in connection with good farm practice.

A glance at a map will show that the counties mentioned above represent the various types of soil on which Kentucky farmers make their living. If the every-day farmer is anxious to buy fertilizers or lime which will pay for their cost and their application, he does not need to spend years in experiments at home. He can write to the College of Agriculture at Lexington and ask for a copy of the report on the results of the soil experiment fields which brings all records up to June 1918. It is his for mere asking.

Several sheep are clustered behind it, some looking towards the camera. A wooden fence runs across the middle ground, and a house with a chimney is visible in the background on the left. The scene is set in a rural, open area with some trees and a clear sky.

The question of a market must always be considered, especially the facilities for reaching it and the type of hog it demands. Most communities have been successfully connected with the large central markets by the railroads, but these will be of little avail if the roads to the stations are poor. Good roads are of inestimable importance, for, among other things, they enable the farmer to market his products at any and all times, thus taking advantage of any favorable fluctuation in the market prices. As to the type of hog the market demands, that must be determined by local inquiry, but it is order to bring the highest market price hogs must be well finished and fat. The greatest demand is for 200 to 300 pounds hogs, and farmers generally obtain the most profit by marketing their hogs at weights ranging from 250 to 300 pounds.

The water supply is of paramount importance in raising animals.

Ladybugs will be collected by forest service men in Oregon before the period of hibernation is ended and freed in the wheat fields of the state to fight the aphides, of which the ladybug is the natural enemy. The ladybugs hibernate on mountain tops and in protected canyons.

When You Are Chilled.
Chilled limbs or feet should not be put near the fire or in hot water, as this causes the blood vessels to dilate too rapidly and chilblains result. The chilled members may be put in tepid water and a little hot water added from time to time, but the best plan is to warm by exercise and by rubbing.

Animals in Hedges.
Those quaint box hedges, which one sometimes sees nowadays in the British Isles, cut out on the top into curious little shapes of birds and animals, are of exceedingly ancient lineage. Pliny the Younger, in describing the garden of one of his villas, mentions "animals in box, facing each other," and this was, perhaps, in about the year 100 A. D.

writes: "Before I used Foley Kidney Pills I was troubled with kidney trouble and my left side hurt me so I could hardly get up in the morning. Pain is all gone now and am feeling fine."

Gullies Worried Washington.

Worn and gullied fields evidently worried Washington greatly for once when he needed a new manager, he wrote that the man he must have should be, "above all, Midas like, one who can convert everything he touches into money, as the first transmutation toward gold; in a word, one who can bring worn-out and gullied lands into good tilth in the shortest time."

A Reputation To Maintain.

Really and truly loyal Americans, and thank the Lord most of us are that, will not play Uncle Sam false in the hour of his greatest triumph.

For any what you will America stands better before the world today than ever in all her history.

America had a reputation to maintain when we entered the world war.

We had set the pace for the world in many ways. Particularly we had laid up a store of wealth that won us a worldwide dislike.

Generally speaking we were regarded as a nation of money chasers. A nation of people who would suffer any insult rather than fight.

Germany was more impressed with that idea, possibly, than any of the other world powers.

And tried to make the most of it. You all know what happened.

The world now admits that Uncle Sam's entry into the war turned the scales in favor of the allies. That without his help they would have been defeated.

Every one of the early demands, due to the world war emergency, America met promptly and generously.

Everything that was asked by our allies was granted fully and freely.

Every sacrifice necessary was made gladly and without hesitation.

Whether it was a call for personal service or financial sacrifice that demand never went unheeded.

And the result was that once America's hosts had followed America's dollars to the fighting front the finish came like lightning out of a clear sky.

We have that reputation still to maintain.

We must keep our toes to the line of duty until the finish.

We must lend to Uncle Sam just so long as he needs themoney.

We must prepare for the Victory-Liberty Loan.

A FAIR EXCHANGE

By DOROTHY D. MUIR.

It has never been quite decided whether Bob was wakeful that night or whether the burglar, being an inexperienced burglar, made too much noise, but everybody does agree that though the burglary, itself, was unsuccessful, the affair turned out in a way that pleased all concerned, and, much better, to be sure, than had been expected. The whole thing began when Bob awoke with an awful start to discover that there was surely a burglar in his apartment. Now Bob, having his own ideas on the management of burglars, soon had his very bright, hitherto unused, and he feared, unloaded revolver, cocked before him, and stood ready to draw the curtains separating his room from the small living room adjoining it.

"Glad you seem to be enjoying yourself," This from Bob, as he stood, rather dramatically, between the drawn portieres, the revolver leveled at the intruder.

"Oh!" A very startled and almost feminine exclamation from the burglar.

"Ah!" A very admiring and extremely amazed exclamation from Bob, as the burglar, or perhaps he should say burglaress, faced him. Bob knew how to manage some species of burglar, or thought he did, but this particular specimen baffled him.

"Please, I'm sorry!" She raised a pathetic face to his—an extremely pretty face, with very large brown eyes, and very red lips. For a moment the lips trembled and strange to say it seemed as though she was struggling to suppress laughter rather than tears.

"Hysterical," concluded Bob, though it was hard to explain the odd twinkle which he felt sure he could detect in her eyes.

"Please don't send for the police," she said.

"Oh, don't explain. I think I understand—you were poor and discouraged, and tempted."

"Yes! that was the reason. I—I was so poor and—tired. But now will you let me go?"

"Of course, in a moment, but won't you let me be of assistance to you?" He disappeared into his room, and when he returned held out to her a bill of as large a denomination as he had felt he could afford.

"Please accept it, and try not to steal again."

He felt that he was handling the situation admirably. He possessed too great amount of wealth, but what he did have he would use to help the unfortunate, and, incidentally, the beautiful.

"Thank you," replied the fair burglar, after a brief moment of hesitation, and she took the proffered gift. "You—are very good." The sentence was left unfinished as she buried her head in her arms.

"Absolutely overcome," thought Bob, with much sympathy. Some time later, when she seemed to have recovered and had promised to lend a worthier life, he led her to the door, and sent her away, then returned to his disturbed slumber, inwardly regretting that a girl, with such a lovely face, should be a mere thief of the shims. All that night, and all the next day he thought of her. He was disgusted with himself for not getting her address and managing to see more of her if only to be of pecuniary assistance—and then the unexpected happened. A letter came from Betty. Betty was Bob's sister, who lived some distance away with the rest of his family, but who was in the same town, with friends, at the present time, on a visit. As he opened the envelope, a rather crumpled greenback fluttered out of it and as it was a bill of the same amount that he had made a gift of the night before, he hastened to read sister Betty's letter for an explanation.

"Dear Bobbie—it ran, I am returning the enclosed, with much praise for your generosity and many thanks from my friend, Margaret Allan, a perfect dream of a girl, whose acquaintance you have made under strange circumstances. They have a perfectly delightful club over here and last night they initiated Margaret—I suggested the initiation as you probably suspect, for you remember I had a key to your apartments—and that's why she played burglar, Bobbie, dear."

"Hope you won't be cross! Margaret was a good sport, anyway, for it was a daring thing to do! And she carried it off fine, even if you did discover her. I will tell you that she was very favorably impressed, if you won't get too conceited, and, of course, I can arrange a meeting if you wish. But oh, Bobbie, what will happen to you if I introduce you to Margaret? Love, from Betty."

It hardly needs to be said that, at his eager request, Betty soon arranged for the meeting, and Margaret, with her irresistible smile and altogether charming manner, was even more wonderful than he had pictured she would be.

The acquaintance ripened into friendship, and the friendship grew deeper and stronger, until one day Bob said, very tenderly, to Margaret:

"Don't pretend you're a lady, Margaret, for you're only a little burglar after all. Margaret, dear, do you know you have stolen my heart?"

But Margaret, her eyes beaming with love light, answered: "Oh, no, Bobbie, dear, I have not stolen your heart. It is only a fair exchange."

FARM STOCK

GOOD BUILDINGS FOR SHEEP

Should Be Dry, Well Drained, Ventilated and Furnish Ample Space for the Flock.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
The site for permanent buildings for sheep should first of all be dry and well drained. Ample yard space that is dry and sheltered should be available adjacent to the main barn or shed. A southern slope with sandy soil is especially satisfactory for this purpose.

On most farms it will be advantageous to have the buildings and yards easily reached from the regular pastures or from fields used to grow forage crops for summer pasture. As the flock requires attention many times daily during part of the year, convenience of location in relation to the farm dwelling and to other buildings will effect an economy of time in the performance of routine labor.

Since sheep do not require quarters that are especially warm, a single wall will ordinarily insure sufficient warmth. If lambs are dropped in very cold weather, a temporary covering over the landing panels will provide warmth, or a small space can be partitioned off in which to keep a few ewes until their lambs become strong.

Shade and protection from heat are peculiarly necessary for sheep. Shade cannot always be furnished in pastures, and buildings that are well located and constructed so as to render them cool in summer will often provide greater comfort to the sheep during hot days than would be possible for them out of doors.

Dryness and freedom from draft are most important. Sheep cannot possibly thrive in quarters that are damp or dark. In fact, the flock should be shut in only during storms. Abundance of light in all parts of the building and at all times is necessary not only for the health of the sheep, but for convenience of the shepherd in caring for them. One square foot of window for each 20 square feet of floor space is necessary. Windows should be placed at a height to insure a good distribution of light, and particularly direct sunlight for the landing pens during the period the ewes are lambing.

Crowded confinement in poorly ventilated pens is very injurious to breeding ewes. While they should seldom be shut indoors, a part of the flock will usually be inside at night. At lambing and during storms doors should be closed. For such times it is necessary to provide means of securing fresh air without creating drafts. In a very large building with numerous doors and windows it is often advisable to build one or two partitions from floor to ceiling to prevent drafts. Fresh air can be admitted through muslin-screened windows opened on the side opposite to that from which the wind is blowing without causing drafts if all other sides of the building are tightly closed.

Level and well-drained clay-surfaced floors are satisfactory and economical. Sheep pack the surface very firmly, and if there is proper drainage the only objection to this floor is that it does not exclude rats. Concrete floors for alleys and feed rooms are necessary, but will seldom be called for in the pens.

The main features to be provided in the floor plan are minimum of waste space, convenience and ease in feeding and in cleaning the pens, and elimination of the need of moving or disturbing the sheep. Pen partitions should be movable. By using feed racks to make divisions in the pen space the size of the pens can be varied as needed, and in special cases the racks can be removed to permit the use of the space for other stock.

Farmer Who Does Not Raise Animals to Supplement Crops Loses Soil Fertility.

More and more is the tendency to ward livestock raising to supplement crop growing in general farming. The farmer who raises crops, such as corn, cotton, sorghum, hay, etc., without animals and sells these products must sell the fertility constituents at wholesale and buy meat, milk, butter, flour, meal, etc., at retail, paying the high cost of hauling both ways and dealers' profits. Animal raising saves fertility and the high cost of hauling. It is worth while.

TRACTOR DEMONSTRATION

To be held on the Norwood place, two miles from LEXINGTON on Newtown Pike

Friday and Saturday, March 21st-22nd

The time has come when Motor farming is a necessity—when more progressive methods of farming must be adopted.

All day Friday and Saturday, March 21st and 22nd, a Tractor demonstration will be staged on the Norwood place, two miles from Lexington, on the Newtown pike. Here will be shown, by actual practical demonstrations, the many benefits to be derived from the Tractor way of farming.

Here also you may witness actual operation the world's five leading Tractors. Each of the firms taking part in this demonstration will erect a tent under which will be displayed the various Tractor attachments.

It is a proven fact that Motor Farming means better farming and bigger yields at a minimum cost of production. This is a fact that the farmers of Central Kentucky must learn, so we urge you to come and learn just what Motor Farming means. This is to be an event of vast importance, so come early and arrange to spend the day. Plenty to eat, including Burgoo made by "Dud" Lawrence has been arranged for.

Test Children with Milk

Milwaukee has tested the value of milk upon the pupils who do not get it in their homes. A very marked improvement, both physical and mental, was noted.

Women Did Farm Work

The war never came close enough to the American farmer to force his wife and daughters into the fields. In England over 300,000 women were working in the fields to produce food for the men who bore arms on the front.

Boy Makes Record.

When the breeders of Duroc hogs sent their stock to the big "Round-up Sale" of the Kentucky Live Stock Association at Louisville last month, they did not expect a boy to sell the highest priced Duroc put up. That is exactly what did happen for Seorgan Jones, who is only 18 years old, sold one of his sows for the top-notch price. It is also interesting to notice in this connection that Seorgan learned the breeding game while he was a member of the Boy's Pig Club for the past four years.

Bank To Exhibit Pig.

Banks in farming districts have been helping boys and girls buy purebred poultry, hogs and cattle for sometime. They have seen the value of such work to the general prosperity of the communities in which they do business. The light is now beginning to break upon the banks that do business in our larger cities. County Agent, J. T. Taylor of Jefferson county, writes as follows:

"Spent part of today with John E. Huhn, Vice President of the Liberty Insurance Bank of Louisville going over plan of boys' and girls' pig club and how the bank can cooperate in promoting this form of work. This is one of the city's largest banks and it has agreed on a two-year 5 per cent note to any boy or girl in Jefferson County for the purchase of a registered gilt. The bank will also award a silver trophy to the sweep-stake winner of the respective class breeds provided 5 or more of a respective breed is exhibited at the Jefferson County Fair. These trophies will be awarded at the State Fair and the prize winning pig placed on exhibition in the lobby of the bank."

Will Wilson

Run Again?

Certain remarks made by President Wilson, at a luncheon given at the White House to members of the Democratic National Committee on February 28th, conveyed the impression to the guests that he will not run in 1920, but will devote his time, after March 4, 1921, to writing history.

It may well be that these remarks of the President are due to a firm determination on his part not to accept a re-nomination; however, unless such intimations are promptly followed by a definite declaration regarding the matter, many politicians will be inclined to consider the incident as merely a feeler thrown out to test the sentiment of the people.

The President has demonstrated, on numerous occasions, and notably in connection with his trip to Europe, that he is not inclined to let a mere matter of precedent interfere with the performance of what he believes to be his duty; consequently, if he does not run again, it will evidently not be simply because of any scruples against breaking the third term tradition.

Three Hundred Miles An Hour By Airplane.

A recent Paris dispatch announces the invention by a French engineer, Auguste Rateau, of a new airplane device which is said to insure a speed of from two hundred to three hundred miles an hour. This invention was being perfected as a surprise for the Germans when the fighting stopped on November 11, 1918. It is claimed that an airplane equipped with this new device will be able to travel more rapidly in high altitudes than in the denser air near the earth, whereas, without this invention the higher an airplane flies the less power its engine develops on account of the rarifying of the air; the loss of power at an altitude of 15,000 feet, for instance, being approximately 50 per cent.

This new device is said to be extremely simple. It consists of an arrangement by which the exhaust from the engine works a small turbine which compresses the air drawn into the engine at normal pressure, thus making it possible for the engine to develop full power at any altitude. And, since the air resistance to the flight of an airplane at high altitudes is much less than when flying near the earth, a plane fitted with the new device will be able, it is claimed, to attain much greater speed than has heretofore been possible.

SHEPHERD'S DON'T'S

- (Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
1. Don't keep sheep on wet land.
  2. Don't feed moldy or spoiled hay, roots, sludge or grain.
  3. Don't forget to keep salt and fresh water before the sheep.
  4. Don't neglect the sheep in winter. Keep them in good condition.
  5. Don't forget to tag the ewes before breeding and lambing time.
  6. Don't forget exercising the bred ewe.
  7. Don't let the lamb go too long without suckling.
  8. Don't neglect to feed the lamb grain as soon as it starts eating.
  9. Don't let parasites kill your lamb.

Interest Young People in Sheep Raising.

for lack of some fresh green pasture.
10. Don't shear your ewes until warm weather comes.
11. Don't tie your fleeces with anything but wool or paper twine.
12. Don't hesitate to ask any questions of the county agent, or write to the department of agriculture at Washington, D. C.

FINISH ANIMALS FOR MARKET

Horses, Cattle and Some Classes of Sheep Can Be Fed Quantities of Roughage.

Animals being fattened for market and animals during the first year of their growth should not be expected to consume large quantities of cheap roughage, but horses, cattle and some classes of sheep that are being carried through the winter can be fed rations carrying appreciable quantities of cheaper roughage, provided they are properly supplemented with nutritious feeds of the right sort, such as leguminous hays or linseed or cottonseed meal.

PROPER WAY TO FEED SHEEP

During Stormy Weather Feed Them in Shed in Long Manger Constructed for That Purpose.

Never feed straw and hay to the sheep by throwing it down in heaps on the ground, but have a long rack for the purpose; and when it is stormy do not allow them to stay out, but feed them inside the shed in a long manger made for the purpose.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

A tablespoonful of blood meal mixed with a little milk is very good for a calf that has diarrhea or other digestive disturbance. It is highly nutritious for a weak calf, too.

The keeping in repair of wire fences is necessary on the stock farm and so the wire stretcher is a handy tool, both in repairing and building new fences.

When oats cost no more than half as much as corn the swine division of the University of Illinois recommends they can be fed profitably to hogs.

Hogs are very sensitive to wind and cold at night and will suffer just as much as a cow or horse in cold open houses.

The best results from feeding skim milk to pigs are obtained when about three pounds of it are fed for each pound of grain.

Sludge-fed cattle shed their coats better in the spring and gain quicker and faster than those fed dry roughage.

Clover is an ideal forage for pigs, particularly the young growth coming on after the wheat is harvested.

Ensilage is good stuff to have, but it is not an all-around feed. Some hay and a bit of grain should go with it.

Calves will nibble at hay when they are not more than a week old.

Cleanliness is quite essential for the calf indoors.

Plenty of bedding is needed for the calf.

Spasmodic Sermon.

Many a man finds himself in deep water before he gets in the swim.

The Name Rose.

The name "rose" varies only slightly among different nations. The Romans called it rosa—a form adhered to in Italian, Portuguese, Spanish and Russian. In Polish it is roza; in Dutch, roos; in Swedish, ros, and in French, German and Danish, rose.

Pizarro's Famous Voyage.

December 28 is the anniversary of the fifth start of Pizarro, in 1530, from Panama for Peru. The daring voyager refused to give up his dream of finding gold in the Andean kingdom. The success of his enterprise from a money standpoint astounded the world and resulted in the conquest of the Incas.

Insects and Forest Fires.

Insects cause the destruction of more timber that would otherwise be available for building purposes than do forest fires, according to investigations made by the bureau of entomology at Washington.—People's Home Journal.

Plant Changes.

Some remarkable variations in plant structure and color from exposure to the sun at different hours of the day have been brought to the notice of the Royal Microscopical Society of England by Col. R. E. Rawson. In flowers of the common nasturtium—tropaeolum majus—the low sun of the early morning developed yellow coloring matter, the middle sun of mid-day stimulated the violets, blues and purples. The color of the foliage and lobing of the leaves also changed.

From An Irish Court Room.

An Irishman in the dock for a violent assault. The clerk reads the indictment with all its legal jargon.
The prisoner asks the warden "What's all that he says?"
Warden: He says yer hit Pat Currey with spade, on the side of his head."
Prisoner: "Bedad, an' I did!"
Warden: "Then plade not guilty."
(This dialogue, loud and in the full hearing of the court.)

W. C. T. U. Notes.

The W. C. T. U. have completely changed the public sentiment of this republic, and have widely influenced the sentiment of the world.
They have destroyed the popularity of liquor.
They wiped out the canteen from the army and navy.
They have overwhelmed the richest, and most ruthless organization in the world which had terrified all other forces of the nation.
Then as one of the great temperance forces they have helped to win the 18th Amendment to the constitution.
There isn't a record like that for any other organization in the world.

Daring Escape.

The escape of Edward de Valera, Sinn Fein leader, from an English prison reads like a fairy story. The prison was so thoroughly guarded that communication with the prisoner seemed hopeless. A committee of Sinn Feiners was formed to select men to undertake the work of interference. Men been witted and resourceful, desperate fighters if cornered. At last a plan was hit upon. A garden plot was close to the prison wall, near which the prisoners were allowed to take exercise at a certain hour of the day. An Irish laborer was seen industriously digging in the garden, humming to himself, a usual sight which attracted no one's attention. When the prisoner came out for their walk, and de Valera was near enough he was surprised to hear the gardener singing in Gaelic, the ancient Irish tongue revived among Sinn Feiners, but unintelligible to the average Irishman. This attracted his attention and he knew it must be meant for him. While he listened he plan of his escape was sung to him in Gaelic, the whole occurrence entirely unnoticed by the guards and fellow prisoners.

TWO POINTS to REMEMBER about the NEW EDISON

There are many sound reproducing devices on the market. There is but one which is associated with the name of a great inventor.

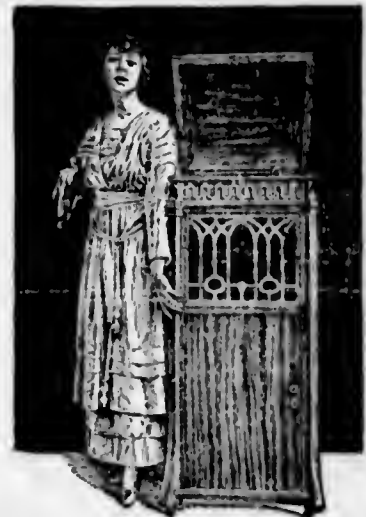

There are many sound reproducing devices, about the merit of which strong assertions are made. There is but one which has ever offered to prove the truth of its claims.

The only instrument which bears the stamp of a great inventor's name—the only instrument which has been subjected to the searching test of actual comparison with the artist's living voice.

The NEW EDISON The Phonograph With a Soul.

The only instrument which bears the stamp of a great inventor's name—the only instrument which such complete fidelity that no human ear can distinguish the artist from the recreation. Then they proceed to prove it by subjecting the instrument to the acid test of direct comparison with the living artist.

More than 1,500 of these tone tests have been conducted. Invariably the result proved the truth of this claim. Why has no other device been subjected to this test? Then why buy a substitute?

A good many people in this community have been relieved of quite a good deal of worry and very little cash, having made out their income tax reports. They spoke highly of the courteous treatment shown them by our popular collector, Judge John W. Hughes.

A treat is in store for those who attend the Methodist church here Sunday as it is missionary day. There will be Dr. C. W. Thompson and Dr. O. G. Mingleford of Wilmore. Dr. Mingleford, a returned missionary from China and professor in Asbury College will deliver a missionary lecture and Dr. Thompson will have a message for the hymens, at night there is to be Rev. R. V. Cropper who has some stereopticon views of foreign fields to show. Everybody is cordially invited. Come as its free.

Diogenes Knew.
Diogenes held his lantern before the face of a woman. It was Christmas morning and she was remarking: "How darling! It was just what I wanted!" Whereat, the old fellow shook his head in despair and passed on. "She is counting on this very moment," mused Diog., "on what she can exchange it for."

Good Motto.
Phillips Brooks once said, "Come, take that task of yours which you have been hesitating before and shrinking and walking around, and on this very day lift it up and do it."

Breathing Cold Air.
A person breathing cold air obtains no much oxygen in six inhalations as he would in seven taken in hot weather. This increase of oxygen is a matter of great consequence to sufferers from lung trouble and also to the person enjoying good health.

Admired His Pluck.
"Well," said Uncle St. Bruggins after a solo by a fashionable church choir tenor, "if that ain't the roughest thing I ever saw. Just as soon as that young man began to sing, every other member of the choir stopped. But he went through with it, and I must say I admire his pluck."—Boston Transcript.

Uncle Sam's Advice.
"Many a man," said Uncle Sam, "trusts over a new idea, and then puts the same old writing on it."

Be a Good Loser.
Don't be afraid of being on the losing side. Defeat in a good cause is infinitely better than helping to win a victory for a cause in which you do not believe. Stand by your convictions. One who surrenders them in order to win is really on the losing side.

When the Baboon Calls.
Baboons have been of sore trouble lately to many South African folk, and poison clubs have been founded to keep them away and reduce their numbers. Baboons recently raided a farm in Robertson, and, ignoring all efforts to drive them away, rode the donkeys in the back yard. In Lainsburg, driven by hunger, they raided gardens in broad daylight.

Preachersville.

Holtzclaw—Whooten. Miss Mamie Holtzclaw, of Lincoln county, and Mr. Charles Whooten of this Co, drove to the home of Rev. A. C. Baird and were united in marriage, March 15th, that gentleman officiating. The bride is the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Holtzclaw of Preachersville, and the groom has just returned from Nova Scotia where he has been in training for some time. They were entertained at a six o'clock dinner by Mrs. Alfred Owens. The best wishes of a host of friends are extended to this happy and popular young couple.

Prof. Wm. Jesse Baird, wife and little son David Halsey, were weekend guests of their father, near here. Prof. Baird made a very interesting talk at the Baptist church at Preachersville Sunday morning at 11 o'clock his subject being "Two kinds of conviction, two kinds of repentance, two kinds of conversion". Also at 7 o'clock Sunday night, he spoke on "two bidders for a soul". Large crowds were in attendance at both services. Mr. Bowen was also present and gave a thrilling account of his experience in France. He was in every battle but one and was wounded five times. He and one other were the only ones of his Co. left. He attributed his escape to his relationship with his Master.

Cracks At Creation.

If bread is the stuff of life, is sugar the cane of life? How would "near-beer near work" answer as a slogan?

The war used to be three thousand miles away—and now the President is!

Snows in the North and sunshine in the South are distinguishing March.

It is time for a nice new spring hat with a nice gay spring countenance under it.

Humidity after July 1st:—Absent in the United States. Extreme in Mexico.

If you have a job that will fix up a returning soldier or sailor, don't feel bashful about saying so.

Mr. Hoover is right when he declares that Germany must be fed. Hunger is a poor political adviser.

The president was running nicely on his way to the League of Nations when his senatorial engine stalled.

Senator Sherman looks like a peaceful and kindly gentleman. Who would have thought that he had a filibuster up his sleeve?

"By their fruits ye shall know them". Lack of fuel, starvation, pestilence and terror mark the Bolshevik rule in Russia.

England is in the same position toward Ireland that some men are toward their wives. She can't live with Ireland and can't live without her.

In exclusive New York places Scotch highballs are selling for a dollar apiece. If they were selling at that price in Scotland they wouldn't be selling.

When your son comes home from the army, don't on any account offer him corned beef. Presumably he will be grateful for it, but you won't in the least like the form his gratitude takes.

It is understood that to "watch the clock" is a bad habit. But we have not observed that the public displays any reluctance to watch the clocks on the fashionable hostelry.

Repeat to yourself twenty consecutive times, "The good man loves to pay his income tax." The effect may possibly be to place you in a more resigned frame of mind.

Some of the newspapers object to President Wilson's "defiant and dictatorial attitude", while others object to the Senate's "defiant and dictatorial attitude". Can it be that all America is becoming defiant and dictatorial?

"Button, button, who's got the button?" We learn that few buttons have been made here since the United States entered the war and that the supply is almost exhausted. Be careful of buttons, unless you wish the time to come when you will be obliged to pin your clothes together.

The doughboy who comes home from France expecting to be married at once will have nervous prostration when he buys his first American newspaper and reads in the advertisements "Women's spring suits, $15.00, and Women's oxfords, $12.50," to say nothing of the produce and market reports.

The congressional committee which drafted the revenue law evidently had no kids of their own and no sympathy with other people's kids. They laid a tax upon athletic goods without regard to the fact that 70 per cent of baseball bats, catchers' masks and mitts and athletic goods of every description are bought by boys under eighteen.

French in South America.

Throughout South America French is almost universally read; editions of the classics are in most homes, and book stores are filled with modern French writers of prose or verse, both in translation and in the original.

Presidents in Country's History.

Martin Van Buren, the eighth president, was the first president born after we had declared our independence of England, and John Tyler was the first born after the formation of the United States.
